Caitlin Williams is an associate in Meyer, Unkovic & Scott's Litigation and Dispute Resolution Group.

She previously worked as a Judicial Intern to Justice David Wecht of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. Additionally, she spent a summer as a Legal Intern in the Office of the New York State Office of the Attorney General, developing innovative legislative and policy solutions to issues facing community members.

Caitlin received her J.D. in 2025 from the University of Pittsburgh School of Law where she served as the Executive Editor for Online and Short Works for the University of Pittsburgh Law Review. Caitlin also worked as a Certified Legal Intern in the Sikov Elder Law Clinic. In that role, she provided estate planning services to low-income adults and represented a family in a guardianship matter.

While in law school, Caitlin wrote news articles about important rule of law issues as an Associate Editor for JURIST, the world's only law school-based, comprehensive legal news service. Caitlin also worked as a Research Assistant to Professor Greer Donley.

Caitlin has been recognized for her volunteer efforts with Neighborhood Legal Services, the Pittsburgh Pardons Project, and Pitt Legal Income Sharing Foundation (PLISF). She was also honored by the National Association of Women Lawyers as an Outstanding Law Student in 2025.

Caitlin grew up in East Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania and enjoys spending her free time hiking, traveling, and reading.
